BEER CHIEF JUDGE'S REPORT - STEPHEN NELSEN

Another cracker year for the Royal Adelaide Beer and Cider Awards, again with impressive numbers and diversity of exhibits.

We increased beer tasting to eight panels over two days, meaning we continue to have all beers in a class judged by the same judges. While it adds an added layer of complexity to the judging process, this process sets us apart from other competitions when comparing fairness to entrants. Some classes, notably 41 stouts, and similar numbers of IPAs were gruelling to attempt all in one day, such is the grit and commitment of our selected panellists.

Speaking of judges, we expanded the pool wider again, bringing in five interstate experts, welcoming new associate judges and accepting future judges through stewarding this year.

Stewards were put to work tapping over 120 kegs, which is a testament to the growth in craft and specialty products from our brew-pubs and tap-only brewers. Colloquially "Tinnies" or canned beer samples far outweighed bottles 174 to 21, signalling the switch in market preference to aluminium.

It was great to see a growth in lagers overall, and more dark beers vying for medals, ahead of our peak winter Beer Festival. Twelve of the lagers were dark. There were three glorious barley wines the judges loved, and no less than seven imperial stouts. More than a dozen beers were entered with coffee or chocolate too!

Hats off to the Show crew, principally Lucy Silva, for the excellent venue, and conducting the whole competition flawlessly. A special thanks to our committee as well, as usual led ably by Simon Fahey, and with Peter Bradley as our newest addition to the leadership team. Our competition also boasts the sample and steward wrangling role of co-ordinator, again fielded by Jeff Wright, an admirable effort.

As ever, we're keen for your feedback as we strive to grow this fantastic competition, preferably with a pint in our hands.

For now, let's celebrate the best beers by the best brewers, in the best state of Australia.

Cheers.

Stephen Nelsen

CIDER CHIEF JUDGE'S REPORT - WARWICK BILLINGS

While entries were down this year, from the smaller pool we saw generally very well-made ciders, across the range of classes.

The number of entries in cider could be reflective of the current industry climate, as I speak generally to cider sales being down at this time of the year, and the wet summer didn't help producers. There is also fierce competition in the market at the moment to consider, with seltzers and fruit beers growing in popularity. While the category has slowed, it seems craft cider producers continue to perform. Not to mention, cider always goes better when the sun shines.

The winner for this year had a clarity of character that made it stand out – it was enjoyable drinking with purity.

Overall, our team of judges considered and deliberated, with depth and complexity making the difference, which meant lifting some to higher awards.

Thanks must go to the Judges and Stewards for their time and skills, and the Show Organisers for once again ensuring a seamless judging day, a lot of work goes on unseen, but is appreciated!

Wassail to you!
