BEER CHIEF JUDGE'S REPORT - TONY JONES

On behalf of the 2018 Royal Adelaide Beer and Cider Awards Committee and all the judges, I warmly welcome you to this year's awards. The Royal Adelaide Beer Awards were established in 1844 as part of the wine judging. Beer judging continued annually until 1913 when it prematurely ceased.

In 2011, The Royal Adelaide Beer Awards were recommenced. The awards aim to recognise the importance, quality, uniqueness and promotion of the Australian beer industry. These awards continue to provide an opportunity for brewers to reach new markets both in South Australia and interstate and to benchmark themselves against other brewers.

Once again this year, as in 2017, we have opened our awards up to entries from New Zealand and we were glad to welcome Mike Neilson of Panhead Brewing as our guest judge. The increasing number of entries for both the Beer (+24%) and Cider (+13.8%) over 2017 continued our year on year build and again required two concurrent beer judging panels which pushed deep into the second day to complete the task.

Once more I was most ably assisted by the former Simon Fahey who was the second panel leader. Our judges came from across the Australian brewing industry and our thanks go to all the breweries who allowed their valuable employees the time off to spend judging on a volunteer basis. The judges assessed and scored each exhibit on their commercial excellence, quality attributes and trueness to type.

Each exhibit was assessed and scored individually and privately with feedback returned back to the brewer. Judges use a 20 point scoring system and the score determines the medal for each exhibit. This year saw a record breaking 235 beers entered, and the judges agreed that the overall quality of entries has continued to improve and only a very small number of entries this year showed major faults.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the sponsors, judges, stewards and exhibitors that contribute to making these awards a success. I also thank our hardworking awards committee and all involved at RA&HS. A special thanks goes also to our extra hard working Chief Steward Neville and his team who continue to make a complex task look easy. I look forward to seeing you all at the Beer and BBQ Festival.

Cheers,

Tony Jones Chief Beer Judge 2018

CIDER CHIEF JUDGE'S REPORT - WARWICK BILLINGS

Cider (and this includes perry or pear cider) has definitely re-established itself as a popular drink in the venues and homes of Australia and continues to grow in both volume and diversity.

This year's competition had 13.8% more entries than 2017. Cider making has evolved in recent years, and the judging reflects this - with fewer and fewer disappointing ciders. We sniffed and tasted our way through the ciders and the overall impression is reinforced that cider is improving year on year.

Overall I am pleased to say that many medals were awarded - with a large haul of bronze medals and the finer ciders being rewarded with silver.

Gold remains elusive as the judges look for excellence and that bit extra which justifies a gold. Thanks are due to our panel of judges for their time, their palates and their expertise.

Cider judging protocol draws from both beer and wine judging, acknowledging that cider as a drink falls somewhere between the two. As with the beer judging each competitor receives detailed feedback from each judge on their ciders. Hopefully this is a useful tool to help in refining style and direction. Thank you all the exhibitors who entered, for putting forward their ciders. Behind the scenes the stewards and staff of the RA&HS also deserve thanks for running a seamless show that I suspect might belie the behind the scenes action.

Cheers to great cider!

Warwick Billings Chief Cider Judge 2018

This is our IPA glass.

This glass was developed in a sensory workshop in collaboration with two of the leading Indian Pale Ale brewers in the United States: Sam Calagione of Dogfish Head and Ken Grossman of Sierra Nevada. Through this process, we discovered one shape in particular showed the best balance of aroma and flavour.

Our IPA glass enhances the generous floral and citrus aromas that IPAs are famous for, whilst the uniquely shaped base maintains and recharges a fresh frothy head with every sip, delivering full hop flavour and perfect malt balance.

It is the new standard for IPA glassware.

The Beer Classics are available at David Jones, Myer and selected homewares stores or online at www.spiegelau.com.au
